CORINTHIA

GRAND HOTEL ASTORIA
BRUSSELS

Woven into the tapestry of Brussels' rich history

The fabled Grand Hotel Astoria arises as Corinthia Brussels

Commissioned by royal decree in 1909 and designed by Belgian architect Henri Van Dievoet, the Grand Hotel Astoria was conceived as a prestigious palace worthy of receiving the King's distinguished guests. With its Belle Époque facade and opulent interiors, the hotel soon became an icon of elegance and luxury in the capital, attracting high-profile guests from Winston Churchill to Andy Warhol. Today, restored to all its glory, Corinthia Brussels stands as a proud witness to the epochs, events and people that shaped Brussels' history.

126

rooms and suites,
including 36 suites

5

signature suites

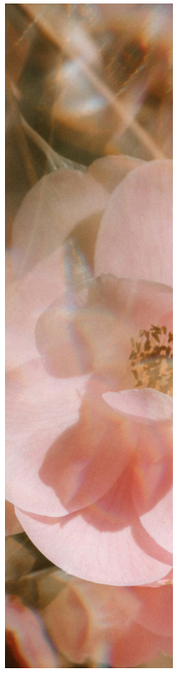

1,200

square metres of wellness space
at Corinthia Spa by Sisley

1910

original opening year

In collaboration with the Heritage organisation, Corinthia has restored the classified areas of this beautiful building to their original condition. From the magnificent skylight to its decadent columns and cornices, the internal spaces have been revived to the glamour with which they welcomed esteemed guests of the 20th century.

Now, Corinthia Brussels marries the palatial elegance of its storied past with sophisticated modern amenities and a progressive personality. Harmonising heritage with an artistic attitude, the hotel is a beacon of the city's flourishing creativity and home to the Astoria members' club, a beating hub for both the local and visiting Creative Class community.

Corinthia Brussels is not only a hotel, but a gateway from which to discover the unexpected wonders of Europe's capital city. Beyond the power and the politics, lies a treasure trove of contemporary art and colourful culture. In the lap of luxury, a stay at the Corinthia unveils the beguiling beauty of Brussels.

Brussels' Most Fabulous Address

REGAL SUITES

Exceptional among the rooms are a selection of spacious suites offering consummate comfort and quality. Of these, five signature suites from the Royal Heritage Suite on the first floor to the panoramic penthouses on the fourth – complete with a private gym, treatment room and skyline terraces – showcase a level of luxury unparalleled in the city.

COSMOPOLITAN DINING

Chef David Martin, from 2-Michelin-starred La Paix, brings French cuisine enriched by his travels around the world to the hotel's fine dining restaurant, Palais Royal. Meanwhile, Christophe Hardiquest reinvents his Bon Bon legacy at Le Petit bon bon, blending Belgian tradition with modern flair in a brasserie-style setting. The Under The Stairs bar by mixologist Hannah Van Ongevalle serves creative cocktails while an interior courtyard hosts outdoor dining for the bar and brasserie. And in the palatial Palm Court, afternoon tea is served beneath the skylight.

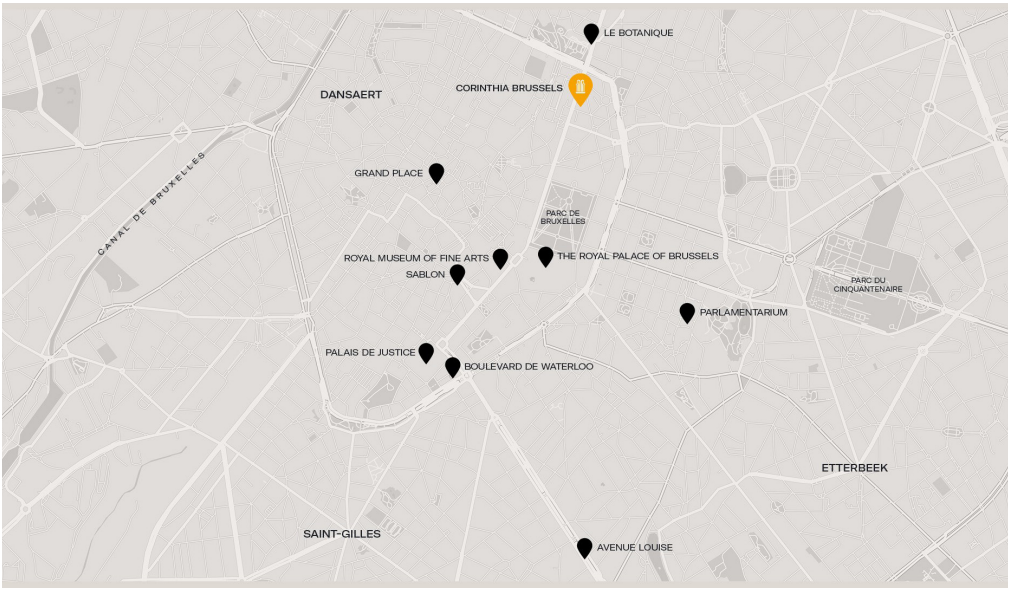

BREATHTAKING SPA

With a dedicated wellness floor, Corinthia Spa by Sisley extends over 1,200sqm where guests and locals can indulge in state-of-the-art facilities, six treatment rooms, sauna, steam room, experience showers and personal training by Paul Tucker.

SPECIAL OCCASIONS

From the stained-glass skylight of the Palm Court to the elegant Salon Elisabeth ballroom, Corinthia Brussels offers exceptional settings for both culinary excellence and bespoke events. The ballroom hosts up to 150 guests while private dining rooms provide a more personal experience. Five exclusive boardrooms on the private mezzanine floor offer a sophisticated space for business gatherings.

Perfectly situated on the historic Rue Royale

DESTINATION

Corinthia Brussels blends Belgian hospitality with global appeal in a city celebrated for its creativity.

Draped in the artistry of architectural wonders and dotted with charming squares, Brussels serves as a vibrant cultural hub where design, culinary finesse and artistic expression seamlessly converge.

The city boasts historical landmarks, contemporary exhibitions and renowned art fairs like Art Brussels and Brafa. And cultural treasures like the Royal Museum of Fine Arts and the Magritte Museum showcase a diverse range of artworks spanning centuries.

The hotel is ideally located just 12km from Brussels Airport, 6km from Brussels Midi Station and 2km from Brussels Central Station.

CORINTHIA GRAND HOTEL ASTORIA
RUE ROYALE 103, 1000 BRUSSELS, BELGIUM
T +32 20 7930 8181 BRUSSELS@CORINTHIA.COM
CORINTHIA.COM/BRUSSELS